Pediatric Orthopedic Center

It's one thing to set children's broken bones or take care of sprains, it's another to treat rare or severe pediatric orthopedic problems. At OrthoCarolina, our Pediatric Orthopedic Center physicians are trained in the diagnostics and procedures to help children with disorders large or small. Your family can depend on our advanced technology and specialized expertise as we treat the most important patients in the world.

All of our Pediatric physicians see patients at the central location on Randolph Road, and many travel out to other OrthoCarolina offices to provide treatment across the region

At the OrthoCarolina Pediatric Orthopedic Center, our physicians look forward to treating you with the highest level of professional care.
