Hip & Knee Center

OrthoCarolina's Hip & Knee Center is internationally recognized for expertise in the fields of adult hip and knee care. Our sub-specialized physicians have served as collaborative pioneers in the development of today's modern hip and knee replacement surgeries and have extensive experience with simple and complex surgery of the joints. These procedures can alleviate problems caused by osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, fractures, congenital deformity and other diseases which restrict an adult patient's active lifestyle.

The Hip & Knee Center is ideally positioned to meet the growing demand for more specialized care from an increasingly aging and more active population. Many baby boomers put more pressure on their joints, in part, because they have an active lifestyle, which leads to an increased risk of osteoarthritis and injury.

Additionally, the Hip & Knee Center, along with CMC-Mercy Hospital, has received dual Gold Certification by the Joint Commission for both total hip & total knee replacements.

Each year in the United States, more than 400,000 total hip and knee replacement procedures are performed. Continuously evolving techniques and innovations make these replacement surgeries uniquely beneficial to patients who suffer from arthritis and other painful hip and knee conditions. The sub-specialized physicians at the OrthoCarolina Hip & Knee Center restrict their practice to the management of adult hip and knee problems and collectively perform nearly 3,500 joint replacement procedures annually.

At the OrthoCarolina Hip & Knee Center, our fellowship trained and board certified physicians look forward to treating you with the highest level of professional care.
